2. INTRODUCTION

This is the publication for the first quarter 2013 of formal trade statistics. This publication gives also an overview of all quarters of 2012. The next publication is due in September 2013.

While we are able to capture the main products exported and imported, the data does not allow us at present to have a complete understanding of the final destination of our exports. For instance, Mombasa and Dar Es Salaam serve as exit ports for coffee and tea (after auctioning) and tracing the final destination of these products has proved difficult. In this publication, we will therefore be presenting the first destination of our exports instead of the final destination.

The raw data for this publication has been obtained from Rwanda Revenue Authority. We follow the harmonized system of classification for products and the compilation is made following the general trade system.

The following sections will be split into:

- Overall trade
- Rwanda's trade with EAC
- Rwanda's trade with other regional trading blocks

3. OVERALL TRADE

Niobium, other black tea and tin ores are the main exports of Rwanda in the first quarter of 2013 as illustrated in the table below. The same quarter of 2012 recorded the highest value (US$ 40.5 million) of other black tea exports, while niobium category recorded more than the double value in the first quarter 2012 (US$ 11.7 million in 2012Q1 against US$ 25.0 million in 2013Q1).

7. ANNEX A: TECHNICAL NOTES

Imports: Imports are goods or services that were produced abroad or Products of foreign origin brought into the country.

Exports: Goods and services produced in one country and sent to another country to be sold.

Re-exports: The export without further processing or transformation of good that has been recorded as imports.

Re-imports: imports of domestic goods which were previously recorded as exports.

Special Trade System

The special trade system is in use when the statistical territory comprises only the free circulation area, that is, the part within which goods "may be disposed of without customs restriction". Consequently, in such a case, imports include only goods entering the free circulation area of a compiling country and exports include only goods leaving the free circulation area of a compiling country. Under the strict definition, goods imported for inward processing and goods which enter or leave an industrial or commercial free zone or customs warehouses would not be recorded since they would not have been cleared through customs for home use. The compensating products after inward processing also would not be included in exports. It has to be used as a basis for producing trade balance and foreign trade statistics as a whole. The special trade system covers the following procedures:

(a) On importation, goods which on direct importation into the statistical territory, upon leaving a depot, transit area or after transshipment, and goods which upon leaving a warehouse of free zone, are:

- declared for home use (including drawback system and goods that were accepted on temporary admission);
- accepted on temporary importation for inward processing;
- placed in industrial warehouse or industrial free zones;
- placed in customs bonded manufacturing plants or export processing zones;
- imported after temporary exportation for outward processing.

Goods put into circulation for home use after temporary importation, on leaving industrial warehouses, free zones and customs bonded manufacturing plants and export processing zones no longer fall within the special trade regime.

(b) On exportation, goods which are:

- of national origin and declared for single exit;
- exported after temporary importation for inward processing;
- exported after release from industrial warehouses or industrial free zones;
- exported after release from customs bonded manufacturing plants or export processing zones;
- on temporary exportation for outward processing.

General Trade System

The general imports provide the most comprehensive record of the goods entering the economic territory of a compiling country and increasing the stock of its material resources while general exports provide the most comprehensive record of the goods leaving its territory and thus decreasing that stock. It is recommended, therefore, that countries use the general trade system for compilation of both their import and export statistics. It covers the following goods:

(a) On importation, goods which on direct importation into the statistical territory, upon leaving a depot, transit area or after transshipment are:

- declared for home use;
- accepted on temporary admission;
- accepted on temporary importation for inward processing;
- placed in industrial warehouse or industrial free zones;
- placed in customs bonded manufacturing plants or export processing zones;
- imported after temporary exportation for outward processing;
- imported after temporary exportation for return in unaltered state;
- placed in customs bonded warehouses or commercial free zones.

(b) On exportation, goods which are:

- of national origin and declared for single exit;
- exported after temporary admission;
- exported after temporary importation for inward processing;
- exported after release from industrial warehouses or industrial free zones;

- exported after release from customs bonded manufacturing plants or export processing zones;
- on temporary exportation for outward processing;
- on temporary exportation for return in an unaltered state;
- released from customs warehouse or commercial free zones.
